

Q: I lost my password. Can you recover it for me?

A: No, there is no possible way for me to get your password. You are the only person who will ever know your password. If you send an e-mail to paulb@netnet.net, I can reset your account so that you can sign up again with a new password.

Q: But you sent it to me when I registered!

A: No, actually I didn't. That was an automatic e-mail. I didn't actually send it.

Q: I signed up not to be added to the e-mail list. How will my e-mail be used?

A: It won't be used at all unless you start abusing the message board. At that point, I may e-mail you to remind you of our policies.

Q: I did sign up for the e-mail list. How many e-mails can I expect from you?

A: Not a lot. We may send out a reminder of an upcoming parish event or some new exciting feature on our site. Otherwise, it will not be used.

Q: Do I have to use my real name?

A: No, you can be as creative with your user name as you want. Just don't try to impersonate someone who you are not.

Q: I can't find a relating topic, but have a great idea I want to post.

A: If you would like to see another topic in the forum, let me know, and we will consider adding it.
